

Abstract

A warning device for affixation to the top of a shoe; an electronically activated controller affixed to the top of a shoe; activation means for activating the controller; and alarm means generated when the controller is activated.